Author Index 91
Introduction

In 1967 the Seminar on the Acquisition of Latin American Library Materials (SALALM) was incorporated as an independent entity to carry on the work of the seminar that had come to meet annually after its initial meeting in Chinsegut Hill, Florida, in April 1956. The Articles of Incorporation were signed December 18, 1967, in Washington, D.C., by Marietta Daniels Shepard, Peter J. de la Garza, and Donald F. Wisdom.

At the close of SALALM XII (1967), the composition of the SALALM committees under the Steering Committee (precursor to the new organization’s Executive Board) included the Ad Hoc Subcommittee on the Publication of Bibliographic Research Material. The following note appeared in the Final Reports: “This subcommittee might become an Editorial Board, with this or modified composition.” Article IV of the first Bylaws document provides for committees to be created by the Executive Board, but none are proscribed. In the committee list for SALALM XIII (1968), an Editorial Board is included, with Donald Wisdom as its chair.

SALALM’s first publications under its own name appeared some years later. The Final Report and Working Papers were published by the Pan American Union through SALALM XVI (1971); the first to appear under its own imprint was for SALALM XVII (1972), published 1975. The first number in the “Bibliographic Series” (1969) was actually published in Carbondale, Illinois, using proceeds from the sale of Final Report and Working Papers of the Sixth Seminar that had been published by the Latin American Institute, Southern Illinois University, its sponsor. The second number in the “Bibliographic Series” was published by the SALALM Secretariat in 1975.

The final reports and working papers of the earlier seminars, published by their sponsoring institutions, are considered here as “SALALM publications,” as are miscellaneous related documents. They document the worthy efforts of dedicated librarians and Latin Americanists begun years before the area studies boom of the 1960s in the United States.

The Author Index provides reference to authors in the collective publications.

* * *

I want to express my appreciation to my SALALM colleagues, especially those with longer institutional memories than my own, for information and clarifications received, and to the Harvard College Library for its extensive holdings of SALALM publications. Special thanks to my husband, Keith Arbour, for his support and encouragement.
Final Report and Working Papers

The Final Report and Working Papers and Papers for SALALM meetings I–L are listed below with contents and authors. For the most part the working papers are numbered according to their original scheme in the published volumes, although a few adjustments were necessary. Numbered papers “Not issued” are retained. The earlier volumes provided some challenges to consistency in presentation due to the inconsistencies among them. Regular features are sometimes presented as working papers, sometimes as reports. When reports and working papers are in a single listing, they are left that way; when listed separately, numerals are used for the working papers and uppercase letters for the reports.

All authors are listed in the Author Index with reference to these lists with a bold Arabic numeral for the seminar number, followed by a colon and the number or letter for the corresponding working paper or report.

For full access, including subjects, to the Papers, we can be grateful for the dedication of Barbara G. Valk. She compiled subject and author indexes for SALALMs I–XXIX; these appeared as numbers 12 and 24 of the “Bibliography and Reference Series”: Index to the SALALM Papers, 1956–1980 and Index to the SALALM Papers, 1981–1985, respectively. Subsequent Papers (XXX and after) are all fully indexed in the Hispanic American Periodicals Index (HAPI) 1986–present, and HAPI Online, edited also by Barbara G. Valk. Editorship of HAPI is now in the able hands of Orchid Mazurkiewicz, following Valk’s retirement in late 2005.

Similarly, the Index to the SALALM Progress Reports, 1956–1970 by Rosa Abella, Amelia Mederos, and Haydée Piedracueva is issued as a separate publication (Amherst, Mass.: SALALM Secretariat, 1975).

The Final Report and Working Papers was formally changed to the Papers by vote of the Executive Board at its 1982 midwinter meeting. At its 1979 midwinter meeting, the board voted that much of content composing the “Final Report” segment, namely, Resolutions, List of Committees, and Annual Committee Reports, be published in the Newsletter. Now the remaining portions, Summary Reports of the Sessions and Executive Board Minutes, would also be published in a timelier manner in the Newsletter.

Editorship of the annual Papers formally became the responsibility of the past president following a vote of the Executive Board at its meeting during the 1983 annual conference. This was amended slightly by a formal decision of the Editorial Board at the 1990 conference that would allow for the president to designate an alternate editor.

Bibliographies of Bibliographies

The bibliographic output of Latin America and its documentation in bibliographies was an early concern of SALALM. Early sessions are peppered with reports on national bibliographies, and the annual report on bibliographies was soon a feature. At the 1983 conference, a proposal was approved to include the Annual Report on Latin American and Caribbean Bibliographies in the “Bibliography and Reference Series.” These reports had appeared in the Final Report and Working Papers for SALALM VI–XXVII; the most frequent compilers included Daniel Raposo Cordeiro and Haydée Piedracueva.

• SALALM VI–IX: Annual Report on Latin American and Caribbean Bibliographic Activities;

• SALALM X: A Report of Bibliographic Activities, 1964, with a Selected List of Recent Latin American Bibliographies;

• SALALM XI–XX: Annual Report on Latin American and Caribbean Bibliographic Activities;

• SALALM XXI–XXIII: A Bibliography of Latin American Bibliographies;

• SALALM XXIV–XXV: Latin American and Caribbean Bibliographic Activities;

• SALALM XXVI–XXVII: Bibliography of Bibliographies.

SALALM Newsletter. Vol. 1, no. 1– (January 1973–)

The Executive Board approved the establishment of a newsletter at its 1972 midwinter meeting. The Newsletter was irregularly published in its first few years, but by vol. 3, no. 3 (March 1976), it settled into a pattern of four issues per year (September, December, March, June). It maintained this schedule until 1989 (vol. 17) when a special October "Conference Issue" was introduced. It actually established as permanent the special supplement to vol. 16, no. 1, which had carried the conference reports of the previous year. Soon the frequency of the Newsletter expanded to the present six numbers per year (vol. 19, 1991/1992), publishing in June, August, October, December, February, and April. About this same time, advertising was accepted to help defray the costs of the added numbers.

The earliest numbers established the basic content with each issue containing all or most of the following features: Message from the President, News from the Secretariat, Personalities in the News, Bookdealer/Publisher News, New Periodicals List, Periodicals News, Significant Acquisitions, Institutional News, and Informational Notes. Occasional feature articles or special bibliographies were also frequent. Special committee reports also appeared although annual committee reports were generally still published in the annually issued Final Report and Working Papers through no. XXV (1980).

As time went on, the regular features may have changed names (Personalities in the News to Member News, for instance) or items previously subsumed in a broad category became features on their own (New Members emerging from News from the Secretariat), but the basic content followed the original concept. The largest change was the addition of items previously published as conference final reports in the early eighties and subsequent expansion from four to six numbers per year. New features did appear, also, such as a calendar of international conferences of interest for Latin American studies.

Barbara G. Valk indexed the first fourteen years of the Newsletter. Her "Cumulative Index, Vol. I–III" appeared as a supplement to vol. 4, no. 1 (September 1976), followed by "Cumulative Index, Volume IV" in vol. 5, no. 1 (September 1977). Finally, these were combined with vol. 5 added, as "Cumulative Index, Vol. I–V" in a supplement to vol. 6, no. 1 (September 1978). This latter fulfilled the recommendation of the editor, made at the 1978 midwinter meeting of the Executive Board, for "the inclusion of a cumulative index in the Newsletter every fifth year." Accordingly, "SALALM Newsletter Cumulative Index, Vol. VI–X" appeared in 1983. Valk also indexed vol. 11 (in 12:2); vol. 12 (in 13:2), vol. 13 (in 14:3), and vol. 14 (in 15:2).

Subsequent volumes of the Newsletter went unindexed until vol. 24–vol. 28 (August 1996–June 2001) when each carried their own indexes in no. 6 of the volume, compiled by the editor. The index for vol. 29 (2001–2002) appeared in vol. 31, no.1; for vol. 30 (2002–2003) in vol. 31, no. 2. In no. 6 of vol. 31, the practice of each volume containing its own editor-compiled index in its last number was resumed.
Newsletter editors and coeditors, 1973–present:

SEPARATE PUBLICATIONS

ELECTRONIC PUBLICATIONS

SALALM Homepage (www.salalm.org)

The SALALM Homepage was founded in the early 1990s by David Block with Cornell University acting as host. Initially begun as a convenient repository of resources useful to members, the homepage was designated by the Executive Board as SALALM’s Official Homepage in 1996, with David Block as webmaster.

In early 2007 a redesigned homepage was launched, using the same address, but hosted by the library at Binghamton University (SUNY). Martha Kelehan succeeded Block as webmaster with the launch of the new site.

The secretariat provides much of the homepage content: official documents, publications lists and publication guidelines, committee lists, and the like.

Many of the resources “on” the homepage consist of links to sites maintained elsewhere. Each of the annual conferences since 1999 has had a separate conference site, generally hosted by the host institution for that conference. Some of the sites for past conferences continue to be available.

In recent years, several of the committees or subcommittees have launched websites linked from the homepage. These relate broadly to the committee purpose (e.g., Membership) or may be a specific targeted project related to its purpose (e.g., Resources for Bibliographic Instruction in Latin American Studies, a project of the Subcommittee on Bibliographic Instruction). These are growing, and a new trend may be to add blog or wiki features to distribute management responsibilities and expand contribution by various members.
Links are also present for each of the SALALM “Affiliate” groups: regional cooperatives (CALAFIA, LANE, etc.), project-oriented (LAMP, ARL Project), and the recently formed Iberian Studies in SALALM interest group (ISIS).

The more formal, or static, publications include:

Latin American Information Series. no. 6 and following (see Series, above)

Basic Documents, 1998 ed. forward (see Separate Publications, above)

This electronic discussion list, founded and still moderated by Gayle A. Williams, has been in operation since August 19, 1991. First hosted at the University of Georgia in Athens, it migrated to Emory University for several years and very recently moved to Florida International University.

The list is exclusively for SALALM members. The number of members subscribing to the list has climbed steadily over the years to be very nearly 100 percent. It has proved to be a vital link for members seeking advice and resources as well as a ready information sharing tool.
